Volume 1

Foreword

On September 17, 1962, Heath High School was no longer a lifeless plan; no longer stacks of intricate blueprints; no longer cold, unfinished stone and mortar. Heath High became a living force when we walked through its doors. We watched the building grow around us as we learned to function as a student body. The building grew and we grew; we initiated our traditions; we formed our organizations; we got to know our teachers and each other.

As the year progressed, we began to feel the rhythm of school life and we began to know and love our very own school. Now we belonged to it, and it to us.

In the following pages, the Heath High School ERICA Staff has attempted to capture what it was like to be a student here at Heath High during its very first year -- a year that we shall always remember.

THE BIRTH
BUILDING

It started with a net that he broke off and a great attraction which broke off. I over's first and slowly and its went to the spot where our present school was built. I got out of the net at Mr. Swank and the first ever and moved to the school to that spot.

The teachers moved in the first of the year because they were next to the Jiangsu and the teachers. The teachers. The teachers. The teachers.

Steel came to the first time. When they were arrived and slowly, so slowly at first it seemed, the building went up.

People in the community watched the building go up.
 Future students of the school watched the progress. The teachers move by to see the progress. The school, it was a little better to see the progress.

Teachers get acquainted by carrying chairs to the needed spot.

As a lazy August gave up the battle to a brisk September, the School Superintendent of Schools, anxiously studied the calendar and left the final decision in the hands of workmen and the unpredictable weather.

On September 3, the Heath School District opened for the year 1962-63, but the Heath High School remained closed. We were a school district without a school.

While we were waiting for the new school to be built, the principal and teachers were busy at work. They carried books and equipment, built the new school from the ground up, and the school was ready for the new year.

Then, on September 17, 1962, our new school was ready for us - and we were ready for it!

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

In teaching one of our most rewarding experiences is that of being able to work with students helping them learn to appreciate good books, music, sportsmanship, and citizenship. Our task is certainly made easier when we have young men and women who work to develop it further.

May I say to the present senior class and to the underclassmen who will follow that your memories of Heath High will remain with you for years to come. The facilities we are privileged to use and the fine faculty we have, have only been possible through the tremendous sacrifice made by your parents. As our dedication speaker, Dr. Fleming stated: "The people of this community have refused to settle for mediocrity and have insisted on the pursuit of excellence in education." I hope that the desire to excel will be reflected in the lives of you, our graduates.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Education of present day and future generations will be tremendously enhanced through the facilities of Heath High of the present year. Its contributions to the moral, cultural, educational and civic fiber of the community will be of inestimable value.

We owe a profound debt of gratitude to our Board of Education, citizens, and to all others who have made this possible. It is a dream fulfilled. May it always adequately serve the creative purposes that motivated the edifice.

The very successful

Cosmetology is the science and practice of beauty culture. Students learn to shampoo, cut, and style hair. They learn tinting, dyeing and manicuring along with bleaching of the hair. The girls learn to give facials and how to apply make-up correctly.

Every day they have a related or theory class in which they learn the composition of the skin, hair and hair. Students practice on each other the first semester. The second semester the public is welcome to observe. A small fee is charged for this service.

The students take a State Board Exam and upon passing become licensed beauticians at the end of their senior year.

Electronics

Mr. Berens,
Instructor

Like all Vocational courses, in this class the students spend two years learning the trade. The first year is for learning electricity starting with the most simple electrical experience it.

Electricity covers such things as appliance repair, motor controls, the winding of motors and generators, blueprint reading and residential wiring. The students also learn the proper use of test equipment.

The second year is then spent on the more complex electronic lessons.

Students are given training in shop management; the care and use and responsibility in using hand and power tools.

They are taught the safety and hazards of the machines as well as the theory and operation by actual experience. That is, they themselves operate each machine and make items, parts and complete jobs just as a machinist does in industry.

Related subjects are the "Machine Books," Math (which includes geometry and trig) and Blueprint reading.

Heath Vocational High Is First Built In Ohio

This is an aerial view of the new Heath High School which opens its doors Monday and the Heath Area Vocational School which began classes early this week. The high school is the large building in the foreground and the vocational school is the smaller building connected to the high school by a corridor. (Advocate photo).

The first building constructed in Ohio for the purpose of housing an area vocational high school was opened to students Monday in Heath.

Heath's school is only the second such school in Ohio. The first, in Pike County, is in a building that was purchased from the federal government by school officials.

Heath's vocational school is housed under a separate roof but is connected by an enclosed corridor with the academic high school.

Students arrive at 8:30 a. m. from seven county schools and from the Newark City and Granville Exempted School districts.

They are returned to their own high schools for any extra-curricular activities at 2:34 p. m. County students will be taught all regular academic subjects at Heath High when it opens Monday.

Since the vocational program is on a two-year basis, all students in the school this year are juniors. Students were accepted after they took interest and aptitude tests and many students remain on a waiting list.

Capacity for the vocational building is 240 and vocational director S. N. Guckenheimer said that this year's quota is about 105 juniors.

Students will be working with $280,000 worth of surplus machinery, given by the federal government to Heath's board of education at a cost of $8,000.

Executive school head R. W. Swank said that all the surplus equipment is in "excellent condition."

Students will be taught all regular academic subjects at Heath High when it opens Monday.

Over 30 pieces of machinery are in the machine shop. The students work in the shop all morning, or for a total of four periods a day.

In the automotive shop $16,000 worth of equipment includes complete brake testing, and wheel alignment equipment. The shop will have eight auto stands and two hoists.

Guckenheimer said that the school hopes to make an agreement with area automobile dealers for students to service cars that are brought in as trade-ins at agencies.

Guckenheimer, former director of vocational and adult education in New Philadelphia, added that students would work with junked autos for some time before working on what he calls "live" autos.

The cosmetology area includes a reception room, two storage rooms, a working laboratory, and an office for instruction.

Other areas are the drafting department, electronics department, industrial arts department, two "related" classrooms, and Guckenheimer's office.

The industrial arts department is for Heath High School boys not taking vocational school curriculum. Students will take industrial arts two periods a day.

The two "related" classrooms are used to teach vocational students courses related to their main study, giving them what Guckenheimer calls a combination of "technical knowledge and practical experience."

ACTIVITIES

Dave Dunlap Names Our Yearbook "THE ERICA"

FOR THE SCHOOL with its first yearbook, a name of course for a yearbook. A contest was held among the students and faculty to come up with a name that would be ours alone.

There were over 100 names entered. The contest also resulted in the selection of the best entry, the name ERICA. It was entered by Dave Dunlap (with the help of a mother). It is a Botanical name and it means "of the Heath family". It is the scientific name for the genus of the Heath plant - an evergreen - and thus ERICA is our scientific name.

THE ERICA - - we will call our yearbook THE ERICA from this day hence - - we are proud of our name and the author, Dave Dunlap!

Dramatics At Heath

And the year is a story
And all the world is a stage.

— William Shakespeare
"A Year is a Day"

"Seventeenth Summer"

Mrs. Swan
Director

"Cheaper By The Dozen"

We opened the first dramatic production, Seventeenth Summer, at the Fulton School Auditorium and played to near capacity crowds on November 11 and 17th.

One of our largest triumphs, however, came when we were able to use our own school auditorium for the spring production, Cheaper By The Dozen.

The critics' reviews indicated that both plays were great successes.

Music At

Heath High

The Senior High, Church and Girls Glee Clubs have had a busy year. In addition to participating in various assemblies, they presented a concert at Christmas and one in the spring. They have also worked hard to help their neighbor. Projects included a car wash, cake sale, and a semi-formal dance, Winter Wonderland. The girls of the Ingle Inn have been equally busy. Their most memorable event was the participation in the dedication of our new school.

Our Band

More than 100,000 people are expected to attend the event, which is being held at the same time as the annual meeting of the American Medical Association in Chicago.

The last day of the year is the next day.

OUR VERY FIRST TEAM!

It was the first year for a basketball team and Coach Statter and Coach Foster worked hard with the boys to get ready for the big season. All the boys on the team practiced long and hard. They had never played basketball and a lot of hard work was put out for them.

We lost a lot of games but we won some, too, and those we won were so sweet. All the boys were proud of our first basketball team.

BASEBALL 1963

Our baseball team was young and inexperienced but each boy worked hard and the team played very well against good experienced county teams. Each boy on the team will be back next year, so we have a lot to look forward to next year.

Coach Brigner and all the team are to be congratulated on a fine first year!

LOOKING

Today as never before, there is a greater interest on the part of Americans in what the future holds, and how our nation is prepared to meet the demands and challenges ahead.

Electric power will grow with the future and contribute greatly to it. To assure the effective role of electricity in serving the needs of the nation, the electric companies will continue to need capable and well-educated young people to meet the challenge of tomorrow.

OHIO POWER COMPANY

It is a heart's first yearbook. It is a record of the victories and defeats that were shared in the storied school from an old school of the old school from a new school of the future. It is the story of the school for the future, the story of the future of the school.

It is a story of those who were present, Mr.
 Moss, our first principal. Mr. Moss, our first principal, the administration and the faculty. It is the story of the school, the school of the future, the school of the future.

We, the staff, students and the community, have enjoyed this first volume of the yearbook.

A special thanks goes to the advertisers who have liberalized to support this first yearbook.
